KILLED ON THE RAIL.

Fatal Railroad Collision Occurs in Germany.

ALL QUIET IN CHARLESTON.

No Race Between the Gaities and Mayflower-Pneumonia Attack- ing Beef Cattle in Chicago—The Triennial Conclude.

Fatal Railroad Collision.

Berlin, Sept. 24.—A train laden with German soldiers returning home from Russia and Alsace after having completed their three years' service, collided with another near the Berlin depot to-day. Three of the soldiers were killed and seventy wounded. The collision was caused by misplacing a switch.

PLEURO-PNEUMONIA.

Meeting of the Live Stock Commission in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The Live Stock Commission held a long meeting with closed doors this afternoon and evening, and discussed the disposition of cattle afflicted with pleuro-pneumonia in Chicago distilleries. Governor Oglesby, Attorney-General Hunt and Dr. Baugh, of the State Board of Health, took part in the proceedings. Veterinarians Salmon, Caswell, Hughes, Baker, Murray, Atkinson and the Iowa State Veterinarian were present. J. B. Sherman, President of the Live Stock Commission, Elmer Washburn and the Exchange's attorney, Mr. Coy, also attended the session. The latter three gentlemen advised whether the sickness was contagious pleuro-pneumonia, as the veterinarians had all decided, or something else. They agreed with the board and the veterinarians that the only safe way to do would be to destroy all the animals that had been exposed or were affected. It was proposed that a post mortem examination of each animal should be held, and that found to be healthy should be sold for beef. Representatives from the stock yards already attending this proposition. They said they could not allow exposed cattle to be placed on the market either as beef or as beef. The live stock interests West were not in favor of the proposition. They said that the Eastern and foreign trade would surely suffer. Canners would not dare to handle the beef as a large part of their trade was with foreign countries, and they would not take the risk of having editors' newspapers or other nations prohibiting the importation of American canned beef. The sale of healthy carcasses might also give an opportunity to the stock interests to make a standing menace to the great cattle interests of the West.

During the discussion it was developed that should the 3,000 cattle now under quarantine be slaughtered and either exported or sent to the rendering establishments, the expense would probably reach $100,000, an additional $50,000 would be required to replace the sheds if burned. To cover this outlay of $150,000, there is only available an appropriation of $250,000. Governor Oglesby stated the sum in hand could be exhausted, and he felt confident that the legislature would appropriate the next legislature. It was finally decided that all the cattle now quarantined in the Phoenix and Shiloh distilleries, numbered 2,000 head, should be slaughtered. The board was in doubt whether there were any cases of pleuro-pneumonia in the Chicago and Empire distilleries, but it was determined that if an examination tomorrow there should prove to be a single case of the disease in either, all the animals exposed should be slaughtered.

When the conference closed Chairman Pierson said: "Post mortem examinations will be held on any animals slaughtered, and all the well cattle will be appraised. It is estimated the average appraised value will be $3 per head."

It was finally decided whether the carcasses of the cattle will be sold to the markets or the rendering establishments.

Dr. Salmon assured us that the National Convention of the American Veterinary Association, which will be held in Chicago, will be obliged, however, to pass a law permitting such appropriation from the Government.
